

Massimo BERSANI – CV

Massimo Bersani obtained his degree in Physics from the University of Modena. From 1994 to 1997, he worked at ST Microelectronics. In 1997, he began his research work at ITC-IRST in the field of surface characterization, and from 2007 to 2014, he was the head of the Minalab research unit at the Bruno Kessler Foundation, coordinating the European project I3 ANNA. In 2016, he earned an Executive Master's in Business and Administration from Luiss University in Rome. Since 2014, he has been an advisory board member of the Department of Computer Science, Mathematics, and Physics at UNIMORE. In 2014 and 2017, he was a visiting professor at the University of Maryland, USA, and Unochapecó, Brazil, respectively. From 2018 to 2021, he worked as an adjunct professor at La Sapienza University in Rome. Currently, he is a Senior Researcher and Program Manager at FBK-SD. He is the author of more than 140 articles with an h-index of 24 and has managed projects and contracts totaling over €5 million.