

Carmela CORNACCHIA – CV

Senior technologist at National Research Council (CNR) of Italy

Responsible for the Territorial Area of Potenza of the CNR.

She is a physicist and took her PhD in Method and Technology for Environmental Monitoring, University of Study of Basilicata, in atmospheric research by means of active and passive remote sensing techniques.

She has long experience in managing R&D projects on Research Infrastructure and remote sensing techniques applied to different contexts.

Currently, she is leading WP on Access to Facilities, FAIR Data and related Services of project funded under PNRR call.