

Antonio LANZOTTI - CV

ANTONIO LANZOTTI received his Ph.D. degree in Materials Technology and Industrial Engineering in 1990 from Federico II, Italy. He is Professor of Product Design and Development, Chair of the Task Force of Ateneo Federico II on Industry 4.0 and Sustainable Development and Director of IDEAS Lab established since 2012 by Fraunhofer IWU and Federico II in the Department of Industrial Engineering of University of Naples Federico II (awarded as Dept. of Excellence by Italian Ministry of Research). His research interests include concept design, robust design and human centered design of complex systems. He is Associate Editor of the Int. Journal of Interactive Design and Manufacturing (Springer).