

Michele MUCCINI - CV

Michele Muccini is Director of the Institute for nanostructured materials of the Italian National Research Council (CNR-ISMN) and President of the public-private industrial consortium MISTER Smart Innovation. He has longstanding experience in research and innovation activities oriented towards social innovation through public-private partnerships. His research and innovation activity is based on advanced materials and devices for a variety of application fields, including energy, health and sustainability. Recent activities include the promotion of a public-private partnership to establish the Italian Materials Technologies infrastructure - i-MATT within the Italian Recovery and Resilience Plan.